In 2024 our financial education programs were used by credit counseling agencies, housing counseling agencies, the military, agencies working with the homeless, agencies working with at-risk individuals, and agencies that are approved by the Executive Office of the US Trustees for credit counseling and debtor education.

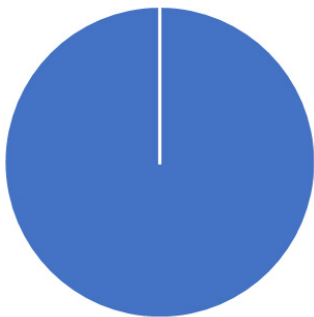

What students said about Money in Motion

Thank You, such a great course! Many times, I thought to myself that this would make a great course for my adult children. I spent so many years struggling as a single parent that I'm afraid I taught my children bad habits and fear about talking about money.

This has been quite enlightening. I look forward to using my goals as well as the tools I learned from this course to successfully proceed through the next phase of my life. Keep up the excellent work! Thank you so much.
